• ALCOR PATIENT CARE TRUST ASSETS

As of April 30, 2009, the Alcor Patient Care Trust Fund has assets of 3.05 million dollars, invested as follows:

* The Patient Care Trust owns just over 75% of the shares in Cryonics Properties, LLC, the limited liability company that owns the Alcor building (all other shares are owned by Alcor members). These shares (representing the Trust's equity in the Alcor building) are valued at approximately $470,000 based on the original purchase price of the building (they would be higher at current market value). The Trust also owns the mortgage on the building, valued at about $280,000. Alcor pays rent to Cryonics Properties, LLC. Since Alcor does not occupy the entire building, there are additional tenants who also pay rent, which provides some additional income for the Patient Care Trust.

* Capital equipment (primarily dewars) and leasehold improvements (capital improvements to the Patient Care Bay) valued at approximately $610,000. These are carried on the books and subject to depreciation, but are not assets that would be liquidated.

* A cash account in which income (other than investment account income) is placed, expenses are disbursed, and money is transferred to the investment account. On the above date it contained about $200,000 but generally contains on the order of $100,000. In addition, on the above date the Accounts Receivable totaled $70,000.

* An investment account held at the firm of Morgan cryopreservation. (If you are not insurable, other financial arrangements can be made. Please ask us for details.)

Team Training

Plans are in the works to re-establish the Arizona team. The team will meet on a regular basis to not only provide team member training but also to train the professional team that will support the different regional teams.

Also, the survey sent out in May, 2009, regarding individuals interested in becoming team members in your area was sent to about 500-600 members with email addresses. A. Drake stated that they have received 71 responses so far.

Deployment Committee

To better determine when a standby would be initiated and at what level, a Deployment Committee has been established. Comprised of Executive Director Jennifer Chapman, Transport Coordinator Aaron Drake and Chief Medical Advisor Steven Harris. Collectively the committee will review the details of a medical procedure or condition and evaluate the level of response and monitoring Alcor will undertake per its Comprehensive Member Standby program.
